DECLARATION OF DAN KARASIC
IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFFS'
MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY
INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

I, Dan Karasic, declare as follows:

1 1. For over thirty years I have worked with transgender patients and 2 worked on issues related to transgender health care. I am a Distinguished Fellow of 3 the American Psychiatric Association and currently the chair of the American 4 Psychiatric Association Workgroup on Gender Dysphoria, as well as the sole 5 author of the chapter on transgender care in the American Psychiatric Press's 6 Clinical Manual of Cultural Psychiatry, Second Edition. I previously sat on the 7 Board of Directors of the World Professional Association for Transgender Health
8 (WPATH). I am also an author of the WPATH Standards of Care, Version 7, 9 which are the internationally accepted guidelines designed to promote the health 10 and welfare of transgender, transsexual and gender variant persons in all cultural 11 settings, including prisons. The WPATH Standards of Care 7 are endorsed by, 12 among others, the American Medical Association, the American Psychiatric 13 Association, the American Psychological Association, the Endocrine Society, and 14 the American College of Surgeons. For the upcoming WPATH Standards of Care, 15 Version 8, I am the lead on the Mental Health chapter.

16 2. As a member of the WPATH Global Education Initiative, I helped 17 develop a specialty certification program in transgender health and helped train 18 over 1,000 health providers. At UCSF, I developed protocols and outcome 19 measures for the Transgender Surgery Program at the UCSF Medical Center. I also 20 served on the Medical Advisory Board for the UCSF Center of Excellence for 21 Transgender Care, and co-wrote the mental health section of the original Primary 22 Care Protocols and the revision. I have also worked with the San Francisco 23 Department of Public Health, having developed and implemented their training

1 program for the care of transgender patients and for mental health assessments for 2 gender-affirming surgery. I served on the City and County of San Francisco 3 Human Rights Commission's LGBT Advisory Committee; and I have been an 4 expert consultant for California state agencies and on multiple occasions for the 5 United Nations Development Programme on international issues in transgender 6 care.

7 3. I have held numerous clinical positions concurrent to my clinical 8 professorship at UCSF, many involving currently or formerly incarcerated people.
9 Among these, I served as an attending psychiatrist for San Francisco General
10 Hospital's consultation-liaison service for AIDS care; as an outpatient psychiatrist
11 for HIV-AIDS patients at UCSF; as a psychiatrist for the Transgender Life Care 12 Program and Dimensions Clinic of the Castro Mission Health Center; and the 13 founder and co-lead of the UCSF Alliance Health Project's Transgender Team. In 14 these clinical roles, I specialized in the evaluation and treatment of transgender, 15 gender dysphoric, and HIV-positive patients, many of whom were previously 16 incarcerated. I also regularly provided consultation on challenging cases to 17 psychologists and other psychotherapists working with transgender and gender 18 dysphoric patients. I have been a consultant in transgender care to the California 19 Department of State Hospitals and am currently a consultant for the California
20 Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation on the care of incarcerated 21 transgender people. I have also been an expert in legal cases involving incarcerated 22 people in the Washington State Department of Corrections and for legal gender 23 recognition in Canada.

1 4. In addition to this work, I have done research on the treatment of 2 depression. I have authored many articles and book chapters, and edited the 3 book, Sexual and Gender Diagnoses of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual
4 (DSM): A Reevaluation.

5 5. I was requested by attorneys representing currently and formerly 6 incarcerated people in the Washington State Department of Corrections (DOC) to 7 identify any concerns that might arise from disclosing the identities of and certain 8 other information about transgender, intersex, and non-binary people who are or 9 have been in DOC Custody.

10 6. It is my considered opinion that the public disclosure of people's 11 transgender, intersex, or non-binary identities and other private or personal medical 12 information will put the exposed individuals at a serious risk of psychological and 13 physical harm, including depression, anxiety, and suicidality. To form this opinion, 14 I evaluated finalized copies of Plaintiffs' redacted declarations and considered the 15 public disclosure of identities and private and personal medical information in the 16 context of my academic and clinical training and experience in psychiatry and 17 gender-affirming care.

18 7. In our society, individuals are usually assigned a sex at birth based on 19 an examination of external anatomy. Sex has many biological components, 20 including chromosomal, anatomical, hormonal, and reproductive. A person's 21 gender identity is their sense of being male, female, both, or neither. Someone who 22 is transgender has a gender identity different from the sex that was assigned to

1 them at birth. A person who is non-binary does not identify as exclusively male or 2 female, and may not identify as either. Although being transgender or non-binary 3 are no longer considered mental health conditions, they are considered medical 4 conditions. The World Health Organization's latest version of the International 5 Classification of Diseases, ICD-11 lists Gender Incongruence as a medical 6 condition. Gender Incongruence as listed in ICD 11 is encompassing of 7 transgender people: "Gender incongruence is characterised by a marked and 8 persistent incongruence between an individual's experienced gender and the 9 assigned sex." (World Health Organization, 2018)

10 8. A person who is intersex is born with sex traits or reproductive 11 anatomy that does not seem to fit the typical definitions of female or male.
12 Intersex status is a medical condition that may be due to a range of developmental 13 conditions affecting genitals and sex assigned at birth. Some intersex people 14 transition from their sex assigned at birth and are both intersex and transgender 15 (Byne et al 2018).

16 9. Youth and adults who are transgender or non-binary often have 17 experienced trauma and prejudice. Transgender and non-binary people are at high 18 risk to be harassed, experience violence, be forced out of school and employment, 19 and to lose housing as a result of transgender and non-binary status. Family 20 rejection is common. (Grant, 2011).

21 10. Transgender, non-binary, and intersex people often need to engage 22 with mental health and medical professionals extensively in order to access

1 medically necessary care. Many transgender and non-binary people, as well as 2 some intersex people, experience gender dysphoria. Gender dysphoria is broadly 3 defined as “discomfort or distress that is caused by a discrepancy between a 4 person’s gender identity and that person’s sex assigned at birth (and the associated 5 gender role and/or primary and secondary sex characteristics)” (Coleman, et al 6 2012). In the American Psychiatric Association’s Diagnostic and Statistical 7 Manual of Mental Disorders (5th ed. 2013), the diagnosis of Gender Dysphoria is 8 characterized by “[a] marked incongruence between one’s experience/expressed 9 gender and assigned gender” and “clinically significant distress.” If left untreated, 10 such distress may result in depression, anxiety, and increased risk of self-harm and 11 suicidality.

12 11. Transgender and non-binary people experience stress, and for some 13 danger, in coming out as transgender or non-binary. Attempts to control this 14 process may delay transition, for fear of danger and discrimination, and with 15 transition, may include attempts at “passing” or “stealth,” in which the person is 16 recognized in their lived gender, and therefore may not be recognized as 17 transgender by others. Because of past trauma and the anticipation of experiencing 18 further discrimination and violence, efforts to control information may be strongly 19 emotionally charged, with the potential for re-experiencing past trauma as well as 20 experiencing new trauma. Because so much of the process of coming out as trans 21 may be out of the individual’s control—they may not be able to fully change how 22 they are perceived by others—maintaining the individual’s agency to control the 23 process to the fullest extent possible is important for the individual to safely

1 manage the significant stress involved in being transgender or non-binary. Being 2 “outed” as transgender or non-binary therefore may be experienced as a violation, 3 a trauma, as it removes the individual’s ability to maintain control over the coming 4 out process. Discriminatory treatment due to transgender status is associated with 5 clinical symptoms of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (Reisner, 2019).

6 12. For those who are incarcerated, being outed comes with additional 7 risks. Incarcerated transgender people are far more likely to experience violence, 8 including sexual assault, than other inmates (Jeness et al 2007). Those who are 9 incarcerated may attempt to manage the danger risk by not coming out as 10 transgender if in a prison for those of the same gender as the person was assigned 11 at birth. Or if the person is incarcerated with those who share the recognized 12 gender identity of the incarcerated transgender person, the person may seek to be 13 “stealth” or “passing,” to manage the risk of their transgender status being the 14 target of prejudice and danger of violence while incarcerated. In either setting, 15 being outed removes that agency of the incarcerated person to manage the risk of 16 being identified as transgender or non-binary, and adds to the danger of violence.
17 In addition, having more likely experienced trauma as well as anti-transgender 18 discriminatory experiences associated with post traumatic stress disorder, outing 19 transgender people in settings of increased risk may have particular psychological 20 harm.

21 13. Transgender and non-binary people may entrust information on 22 gender identity with healthcare providers and government authorities when 23 necessary. These providers and authorities hold responsibility for safeguarding this

1 information. In healthcare settings, gender identity is considered protected health 2 information, and must be safeguarded along with other protected health 3 information. Safeguarding this information both protects people from harm if their 4 information were disclosed and promotes effective treatment by encouraging 5 patients to be forthcoming about their medical conditions, history, and treatment 6 needs.

7 14. “Doxing,” or the searching for and revealing to others of personal 8 information, often as a form of bullying, has been associated with psychological 9 harm to its victims. (Chen et al 2018). Transgender and non-binary people, who 10 commonly have prior experiences of having been bullied and harassed, may be at 11 particular risk of triggering of post-traumatic and other mental health symptoms. In 12 my experience as a psychiatrist, doxing of my patients who are transgender has led 13 to symptoms of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder and other anxiety disorders as well 14 as depressive disorders, including suicidal ideation. In addition to a sense of 15 humiliation and loss of control in the release of information, there has been a fear 16 of physical danger in being identified and targeted online, with profound 17 psychological consequences requiring psychiatric treatment.

CLINICAL ACTIVITIES SUMMARY

As psychiatrist for the Positive Health Practice at Ward 86, I evaluate and treat patients with psychiatric illness and HIV. I provide consultation to internists, fellows, and nurse practitioners on managing psychiatric illness in their patients. Clinical work includes attention to the needs of special populations, including working with a multidisciplinary team in a drop-in clinic for HIV-positive women, and addressing issues emerging in HIV and Hepatitis C co-infection. As psychiatrist at the UCSF Alliance Health Project, I evaluate and treat patients and I am co-chair of the Gender Team, which provides assessment and care for transgender patients. As psychiatrist for the Transgender Life Care program and Dimensions Clinic, I evaluate and treat transgender patients, working with a multidisciplinary team at Castro Mission Health Center. In my faculty practice, I treat transgender, gender dysphoric, and HIV-positive patients referred from providers across Northern California, and I provide consultation on challenging cases to psychologists and other psychotherapists working with transgender and gender dysphoric patients.

SERVICE ACTIVITIES SUMMARY

My current service work focuses on developing transgender care at UCSF, nationally, and internationally.

I worked with urologist Maurice Garcia, MD on developing protocols as well as outcome measures for the UCSF Transgender Surgery Program at UCSF Medical Center. I am on the Medical Advisory Board of the UCSF Center of Excellence for Transgender Care, and have co-written the mental health section of the original Primary Care Protocols and the new revision. I have chaired the Mental Health Track of UCSF's National Transgender Health Summit since its inception in 2011. I am a founder and co-chair of the Gender Team at the UCSF Alliance Health Project. I helped develop, and participated as a trainer, in the San Francisco Department of Public Health provider training program for care of transgender patients and for mental health assessments for surgery, and have worked in program development for the SFPD Transgender Health Services surgery program.

I am the chair of the American Psychiatric Association Workgroup on Gender Dysphoria, which developed a CME course for the 2015 and 2016 APA Annual Meetings, and is now embarking on a larger educational mission to train American psychiatrists to better care for transgender patients. I have been leading education efforts in transgender health at APA meetings since 1998. On the APA Workgroup on Gender Dysphoria, I am a co-author of a paper of transgender issues that has been approved by the American Psychiatric Association as a resource document and is in press for the American Journal of Psychiatry. I am also the sole author of the chapter on transgender care in the American Psychiatric Press's Clinical Manual of Cultural Psychiatry, Second Edition.

I am active internationally in transgender health through my work as a member of the Board of Directors of the World Professional Association for Transgender Health. I am an author of the WPATH Standards of Care, Version 7, and am Chapter Lead for the Mental Health Chapter of SOC 8. I chaired the WPATH Public Policy Committee and was a member of the Global Education Initiative, which developed a specialty certification program in transgender health. I helped plan the 2016 WPATH Amsterdam conference, and was on the scientific committee for the last four biennial international conferences. I was on the founding committee of USPATH, the national affiliate of WPATH, and I chaired the inaugural USPATH conference, in Los Angeles in 2017. As a member of the steering committee of the WPATH Global Educational Initiative, I helped train over 1000 health providers in transgender health, and helped develop a board certification program and examination in transgender health.
